Introduction

- ▶ Acknowledgement from Sadr
Majlis Khuddamul Ahmadiyya
- ▶ Job Loss Checklist

Dear Brothers and Sisters,
Assalam-o-Alaikum Wa Rehmatullah,

Majlis Khuddam-ul-Ahmadiyya USA is humbled to present the 2010 edition of the Ahmadiyya Resource Directory (ARD). Based on a very positive response last year, we have published and distributed 2,000 copies this year as compared to 1,700 in 2009. More than 10 new start-up professions have been added. Our listing of Ahmadi professionals has also expanded to 600 addresses as compared to 500 last year.

We realize that no single effort could fix all the complicated economic challenges in life. However we believe that this is a step in the right direction.

It took our team many months of constant hard work in gathering, updating, and designing materials for this ARD. Due to the generous contributions of organizations, Jamaat departments and individual members, we are again providing this directory free of cost.

I must recognize the following members of my team and many others who have spent countless hours to make this project a success:

- ▶ Tuseef Chaudhry (Project Lead as Mohtamim Sanat-o-Tijarat)
- ▶ Kashif Zafar (Project Management)
- ▶ Amyr Zafar Haq (Overall support to many areas of the ARD)
- ▶ Asif Jamil and Naveed Malik (Graphic Designing)
- ▶ Rizwan Alladin, Anwar Muhammad, and Abdur Rahim Latif (Fundraising)
- ▶ Irfan Chaudhry, Ahmad Mahdi, Nasir Rana, and Usman Sindhu (Provided content for the ARD)
- ▶ Majlis Khuddamul Ahmadiyya Qaideen, Regional Qaideen, and National Amila (Data Gathering)

Please do not forget to provide your feedback.

Khaksaar,

Faheem Younus Qureshi

I Just Lost My Job! What Do I Do?

- ☑ Pray! Inshallah Allah will provide, so you should pray and also write to Hadhur (aba) to pray for you and your family as well. Members should regularly listen to the sermons of Hadhur (aba) and pay special attention to the sermon of 4/24/09 where Hadhur (aba) provides specific guidance in the case of job loss.
- ☑ Contact your State Government's unemployment office and other social services (contact information at mkausa.org/ecrt). File for unemployment benefits immediately as they tend to take time before becoming available.
- ☑ Look into COBRA options for continued healthcare coverage. COBRA allows employees to continue their healthcare coverage by continuing to participate in their previous employer's medical program by paying premiums out-of-pocket. Your local State may also provide healthcare benefits. You can find contact information for your State at mkausa.org. We've also interviewed medical professionals on healthcare benefits, and you'll find the video at mkausa.org.
- ☑ Look into what services your previous employer provides, such as job counseling, resume-building, assistance with job searches etc.
- ☑ Use the MKAUSA Resume Review service, email your existing resume to: resumehelp@mkausa.org.
- ☑ Contact your local Qaid Majlis and other Jamaat members, ask for their prayers and support – network amongst the Jamaat, your friends and colleagues to search for new opportunities.
- ☑ Pension / 401K – Ask your employer how this will be impacted. Change contributions if needed so that your severance (if you will receive any) is not impacted.
- ☑ Ask your previous manager for references you can use when applying for a new position.
- ☑ Assess your financial situation. At your current expenses, how long can you afford to look for a job? Cut unnecessary expenses so that you can save money while looking for your new job. Things like cell phones, cable TV, internet, and subscriptions, should all be reviewed.
- ☑ Finally, stay positive and continue with your search – in this tough economy it could take longer than usual to land a position. You may also want to consider moving and expanding your search area.

Prayers from the Holy Quran

'O Allah, our Lord, send down to us a table from heaven spread with food that it may be to us a festival, to the first of us and to the last of us and a Sign from Thee; and provide sustenance for us, for though art the Best of Sustainers.'

(Al Maidah: 115)

'Our Lord, bestow on us mercy from Thyself, and furnish us with right guidance in our affair.' (Al Kahaf: 11)

'Because of the attachment of the Quraish —His making them attached to their journey in winter and summer —They should worship the Lord of this House, Who has fed them against hunger, and has given them security against fear.'

(Al Quraish)

Prayers from the Holy Prophet (SAW)

O Allah, I seek Your protection against hardship and grief, I seek Your protection against the lack of means and laziness; I seek your protection against cowardice and miserliness; I seek Your protection against being overwhelmed with debt and ill-treatment from people. O Allah, make Your lawful things sufficient for me and save me from Your unlawful things. And through Your mercy make me independent of everything other than You.

Maybe our Lord will recompense us with something better; we turn to Him Alone (in our loss)

Prayers from the Promised Messiah (AS)

*O Living God! O Self-subsisting God! I seek your Mercy
O Protector! O Mighty! O Kind God!
(I seek your protection, your support and your friendship)*

Hadhur (aba) has also advised the Jamaat members to recite the following prayer:

RABI KULLU SHA'IN KHADIMOKA RABBI FAFAZNA WANSURNA WARHAMNA

"Lord, everything serves Thee; then Lord protect us and help us and have mercy on us"

Explore the Possibilities- Think Outside the Box!

Are there any job opportunities during these tough economic times in the World?

Yes, plenty! Only if we can all come together as one global group. We live in a tough economic but opportunistic time in the history. Change is happening today on many fronts across the globe. To quote Wellington E. Webb, former Mayor of Denver, Colorado - "The 19th century was a century of empires, the 20th century was a century of nation states. The 21st century will be a century of cities."

Cities across the globe are becoming smarter and spending huge sums of money to make their infrastructure robust and efficient. We must embrace this change on people, process and technology fronts. Who among us will not only embrace this change but lead it? Who will be at the forefront of new innovations? Who among us will be the next Zafrullah Khan (R.A)? Who among us will be the next Abdus Salam? It's us, its MKA, which is at the cutting edge of the change where we bring everyone together at an integrated platform.

Here's why...

Companies, educational institutes and governments from Europe, the Middle East, Africa and Asia are working hard to attract top talent from the U.S. as they try to create new markets and grow their economies. Apart from the particular professional skills, these organizations value other characteristics such as multi-lingual skills, multi-cultural exposure and flexibility to relocate for international assignments.

Several European companies and educational institutes come to Boston each year to 'steal' top brains from the colleges and universities of this great city. For instance, "Working in the Netherlands" was one of the several information sessions set up to educate MIT's graduate students about opportunities in the Netherlands. The Dutch Consular General explained how his country was committed to creating new growth opportunities. This session was coordinated by two talent search organizations, Brainport and Academic Transfer. Check out these website for additional information:

euro-career.com/public/careerfair/schedule.php#25

euro-career.com/public/careerfair/pastpart.php

academictransfer.org/org/

brainport.nl/

Companies from the Middle East regularly come to Boston to recruit from Harvard and other well recognized universities in the Bean Town. Singapore has even set up a permanent office in Boston to recruit talented resources and help them relocate to Singapore; their representatives regularly attend career fairs at Harvard and other universities in the vicinity. Check out these website for additional information:

harvardmena.org
contactsingapore.sg

What is common amongst all the regions mentioned above? All of them are waking up to the realities of a new digital world. Thus they are investing into newer technologies to modernize their infrastructure like housing, transportation, education, healthcare, public safety, government services, and utilities. This presents new employment as well as innovation opportunities where thinking out of the box will be crucial. So how can MKA benefit from all this?

Here's how...

Think globally, act locally! We're living in an interconnected society and MKA is at the forefront of being connected and available to help others. As a global organization, we can learn a whole lot from one another and bring innovative ideas through the SoT and AeT platform. This requires a coordinated approach among many countries to bring about solutions to the problems. It will require many steps, but essentially MKA would become the likes of an Ahmadiyya recruiting agency. We'll coordinate with Sanat o Tijarat and Amoore e Tulba departments in other countries to identify the desired talent. This solves the supply part of this challenge. To manage the demand portion, MKA should also partner with these recruiting agencies and match candidates to the global opportunities. Examples of such recruiting agencies include INROADS and Cooperative Education and Internship:

The adventure continues as the world awaits...

Starting Your Own Business

Q: What are some of the PROS/CONS of starting a small business?

A: Owning your own business is wonderful. It provides you flexibility and freedom of being your own boss. Our beloved Prophet Hazrat Mohammad (SAW) adopted business as a profession in his early days. Flexibility and freedom is great but in the same time owning your own business has its challenges too. One must stay on the top of everything. Controlling overhead, marketing the products, employee issues can become challenges too. At the end of the day no fixed paycheck is coming but the harder you work, the greater the reward is. By owning your own business you are not making someone else richer with your hard work but if someone is getting blessed it is you.

Q: I need funding to start my small business, what are some institutions or programs I can turn to for funding?

A: A small business could be started at a very small level like a flea market or mobile sales man with as little as $1000. Depending on location and type of products even this type of small business has a capacity of bringing $50-100 revenue a day. Another option is to buy a franchise. A franchise store investment can be for example $100,000-150,000. To start this type of business one has to come up with about 30% of the money and the remaining 70% could be funded through SBA funding (on approved credit). Any SBA loan under $99,000 is considered a quick and easy process. A similar business as a non-franchise (private) could be a lot less of an investment. Visit www.sba.gov for information on how the Government can help you start your small business.

Q: What type of business should I start?

A: Initially, it might be easier to purchase an existing business that is proven and has a track record. Starting a business from scratch requires a lot more effort and trial and error to understand what works and what doesn't but could in the longer run have more reward for you as well. Understanding your own tolerance for risk, as well as your personality and drive in addition to your finances will be important drivers in your decision process. While doing your research, you may want to speak with other business owners in the same field that you are considering and research extensively what kind of risk and reward can be expected.

Q. What about a business plan?

A. Having a business plan is crucial to your long term success. Your investors and bankers will ask for it, and it will serve as a guide to how to develop your business. Doing a lot of the research upfront will help to provide you the important information you need to be successful.

Q. What are some common areas that cause businesses to fail?

A. The number one reason businesses fail is that they are undercapitalized (not enough money) or that they mismanage their cashflow (not having enough money when needed or investing money inappropriately when there's too much). Most entrepreneurs learn through trial and error but there are also many great books, courses, workshops and networking organizations geared towards business owners that you should look into taking advantage of.

Free Brand Name Medicine!

If you are uninsured and have a prescription from any US doctor for a brand name drug that you cannot afford, Ahmadi doctors in USA may be able to help.

STEP ONE: You can contact us on the email below only after you have a prescription for the drug from a licensed US physician.

STEP TWO: We will send you the application (via email). The application has one section to be filled out by the patient and the second section, that is to be completed by a physician. You will have to fill out the patient section of the application.

STEP THREE: If the ordering physician is willing to complete section 2, then you can take this application to him for the remaining steps. Otherwise mail it to us, so an Ahmadi doctor can complete the rest of the application.

STEP FOUR: Once both sections are completed, the application is mailed out to the drug company.

STEP 5: The medicine is mailed to the doctor's office from where you could pick it up.

The whole process (from the time of filling out the application to the time you receive the medication via mail) can take 8-12 weeks. Usually a 90 day supply is released by the drug company at a time. Once approved, up to one year of medicine supply can be received in 90 day increments without much more paper work. If you have any other health insurance (Medicare, Medical assistance or a Private Insurance) then this program is not for you. More information and resources for you are available at mkausa.org/Sehate-Jismani/Helping-communitites-with-medical-needs-and-health-coverage.

You can send us an email with the name of the drug and the name of your doctor. We will send you the application via email that will have to be printed, completed and mailed back to us.

1 BIOMEDICAL ENGINEER

Apply knowledge of engineering, biology, and biomechanical principles to the design, development, and evaluation of biological and health systems and products, such as artificial organs, prostheses, instrumentation, medical information systems, and health management and care delivery systems.

Most Biomedical Engineers work in hospitals or at Biotech companies. Most of the jobs are standard Monday to Friday normal work week. There is a wide variety of positions among different specialties such as research and development, surgery, diagnostic imaging, cardiology and others.

Most positions require 2 year college diploma and some specialized training to a bachelor's degree. Pay ranges from $49,500 to $75,300. Biomedical Engineers are seen as one of the fastest growing job categories.

2 FINANCIAL EXAMINER

Enforce or ensure compliance with laws and regulations governing financial and securities institutions and financial and real estate transactions. May examine, verify correctness of, or establish authenticity of records.

Financial Examiners may work for financial institutions but by no means is this a requirement. Many large businesses and other types of organizations have needs that financial examiners may fulfill. An important part of the Financial Examiner's job is establishing internal processes and controls to ensure the organization is meeting regulatory requirements and prudent fiscal policies are in place. This is usually a standard office position which would require a typical work week.

Most Financial Examiner positions require a minimum bachelor's degree and may require further certifications or advanced degrees. Pay ranges can vary widely from $41,000 to $100,000 based on experience, skill and schooling.

3 EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT SPECIALISTS

Coordinate disaster response or crisis management activities, provide disaster preparedness training, and prepare emergency plans and procedures for natural (e.g., hurricanes, floods, earthquakes), wartime, or technological (e.g., nuclear power plant emergencies, hazardous materials spills) disasters or hostage situations.

Much of this job is structured around planning and training with emergency services. Many of these roles may be with state or local governments. Pay range is from $25 to $43 dollars per hour.

4 NETWORK SYSTEMS AND DATA COMMUNICATIONS ANALYST

Analyze, design, test, and evaluate network systems, such as local area networks (LAN), wide area networks (WAN), Internet, intranet, and other data communications systems. Perform network modeling, analysis, and planning. Research and recommend network and data communications hardware and software. Include telecommunications specialists who deal with the interfacing of computer and communications equipment. May supervise computer programmers.

Network Systems and Data Communications Analysts may work for any organization large enough to require extensive computer network systems. There will be a strong requirement to stay current with the latest technologies and systems and therefore require continuous learning throughout the career. Industry certification may also be helpful in obtaining positions and to advance further.

Most of these positions prefer a bachelor's degree but it may not be a hard requirement if the requisite technical training or experience can be demonstrated. Average wage is $73,000.

5 FINANCIAL SERVICES SALES AGENT

Buy and sell securities in investment and trading firms, or call upon businesses and individuals to sell financial services. Provide financial services, such as loan, tax, and securities counseling. May advise securities customers about such things as stocks, bonds, and market conditions.

Financial Services sales agents may work on commission or base plus commission pay structures. Most positions require bachelor's degrees with a business, finance or accounting focus. Industry training and exams for certifications are also required. The pay can be lucrative, especially after building a client base and referral network. Average annual salary is $95,000.

6 OCCUPATIONAL THERAPISTS

Occupational therapists help patients improve their ability to perform tasks in living and working environments. They work with individuals who suffer from a mentally, physically, developmentally, or emotionally disabling condition. Occupational therapists use treatments to develop, recover, or maintain the daily living and work skills of their patients. The therapist helps clients not only to improve their basic motor functions and reasoning abilities, but also to compensate for permanent loss of function. The goal is to help clients have independent, productive, and satisfying lives.

Typically a master's degree is required to enter into the field. A national exam is required to become certified. Pay ranges from $60,000 - $75,000.

7 TRAINING AND DEVELOPMENT SPECIALIST

Conduct training and development programs for employees. As more and more jobs become specialized, more and more organizations are realizing the need for robust training and development programs for their employees. This can include technical skills training but also other types of training such as leadership training, management training and soft skills training.

Some companies also have requirements based around government regulations and laws for certain types of training. The range of positions can vary significantly in this role: specialized trainers with niche skills can command very high consulting rates vs. employees conducting in-house training programs. Salaries can range from $50,000 to $90,000.

8 REGISTERED NURSE

Assess patient health problems and needs, develop and implement nursing care plans, and maintain medical records. Administer nursing care to ill, injured, convalescent, or disabled patients. May advise patients on health maintenance and disease prevention or provide case management. Licensing or registration required. Include advanced practice nurses such as: nurse practitioners, clinical nurse specialists, certified nurse midwives, and certified registered nurse anesthetists. Advanced practice nursing is practiced by RNs who have specialized formal, post-basic education and who function in highly autonomous and specialized roles.

As the population ages, the need for RN's will continue to increase. Potential employers include hospitals, doctor's offices, retirement homes and home service companies. Typically at a minimum a diploma in Nursing is required for this position, as well as other certifications as required by the role. Pay can range from $21-33 dollars per hour.

9 INTERPRETERS & TRANSLATORS

Interpreters and translators facilitate the cross-cultural communication necessary in today's society by converting one language into another. However, these language specialists do more than simply translate words—they relay concepts and ideas between languages. They must thoroughly understand the subject matter in which they work in order to accurately convey information from one language into another. In addition, they must be sensitive to the cultures associated with their languages of expertise.

Over a quarter of all interpreters and translators are self-employed and may only work part time on an as-needed basis. The pay range can vary widely based on the languages known, experience in the industry and relevant education. The median wage is $38,850 and goes up to $80,000 for language specialists working for the US Federal Government.

10 DENTAL ASSISTANTS

Dental assistants perform a variety of patient care, office, and laboratory duties. They sterilize and disinfect instruments and equipment, prepare and lay out the instruments and materials required to treat each patient, and obtain and update patients' dental records. Assistants make patients comfortable in the dental chair and prepare them for treatment. During dental procedures, assistants work alongside the dentist to provide assistance. They hand instruments and materials to dentists and keep patients' mouths dry and clear by using suction hoses or other devices. They also instruct patients on postoperative and general oral healthcare.

Of course almost all of these positions are with private dental offices. Being personable and having good communication skills with patients will be very important. Many Dental Assistants learn through on the job training but in the past few years local technical training institutes have started to teach the needed skills and take about one year to complete. The average wages for Dental Assistants is between $32,000 and $38,000.

How to be Successful in High School

ACADEMICS

- The student should have one goal in mind from the beginning of high school: to become Valedictorian.
- The student should take the most demanding course load possible. Elite colleges specifically look for applicants who have challenged themselves as far as possible during high school.
- High School Diploma with Distinction/Honor, Advanced classes, AP courses, SAT and/or ACT, Minimum 3 SAT II Subject Tests
- The student should participate in prestigious academic competitions related to his career.
- Academic Decathlon, Science Olympiads, Biology Olympiad, Chemistry Olympiad, Math Olympiad, Physics Olympiad, Astronomy & Astrophysics Olympiad, Earth Science Olympiad, Intel International Science, Engineering Fair, and Intel Science Talent Search
- The student should partake in extensive research or internship opportunities. This will broaden one's network, force the student to think critically, and expose the student to the mechanics behind how the real world operates.
- MIT Summer Research Institute, Science and Engineering Apprentice Program
- Baker Institute Energy Forum, NASA Education Program, Congressional Youth Leadership Conferences, US Senate Youth Program, National Youth Leadership Forum, Intern for Mayor, Congressman, Senator

COMMUNITY SERVICE

- The idea is to get heavily involved in 2-3 organizations, not to spend time between a vast number of organizations. Furthermore, the student should try to serve in fields related and unrelated to his/her academic career. For example, if the student wants to become a doctor, one can volunteer at a hospital as well as for Amnesty International. This will give the student a broad understanding of what service entails and a well-rounded profile for the admissions board.
- Make-a-Wish Foundation, Youth Bank, Amnesty International, UNICEF

ATHLETICS

- The student should also participate in sports throughout their four years of high school. Colleges look favorably upon a well accomplished student – one who can excel both inside and outside the classroom. The student should try to earn distinction in this area as well, but not at the cost of studies.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

- There are literally hundreds of awards for students who earn academic distinction.
- AP Scholar (Multiple Stages) , Harvard Book Prize , National Honor Society Member , American Citizenship Award

SCHOLARSHIPS

- There are literally thousands of scholarships available to students. Furthermore, they are not solely based on academic achievement, but also on community service, disability, career-specific, ethnicity, etc.
- Presidential Freedom Scholarship , National Merit Scholarship , National Honor Society Scholarship , Tylenol Scholarship , Discover Scholarship
- Principal's Leadership Award

ADDITIONAL PROJECTS TO CONSIDER

- If the student would like, he/she can choose to pursue other interests in addition to the activities listed above. These projects can be done at anytime throughout high school, if and when the student feels prepared:
 - Publish an article in a respected journal/newspaper, Become a guest columnist for a newspaper, Research one's geneological history, create a family tree, make a documentary on a topic of interest, create a website 1) for a cause you are particularly interested in; 2) as a personal website that can serve as a digital resume for colleges

If you received your education overseas...

I completed my 12th grade or higher education outside USA. How can I 'convert' my diploma to a degree recognized in USA?

Consider taking an exam called GED, generally known as General Educational Development Test. The GED provides an alternative to high school diploma or certificate. To get GED certificate, an individual will need to prepare adequately for about 5 major subjects. This is because the Tests of General Educational Development (GED Tests) are created to measure the skills and knowledge equivalent to a high school course of study. The five subject area tests usually known as "GED test battery" are Mathematics, Language Arts, Reading; Language Arts, Writing (including essay); Science; and Social Studies.

The test isn't too difficult if you study for it. But it may take some time and preparation since you'll want to re-learn material you haven't seen since high school. You may want to take some GED practice tests to find out what you need to study, or enroll in classes or a study program to help you accomplish your educational goal.

WHY SHOULD YOU BOTHER WITH THE GED TEST...

1. A GED will help you get a job, and even keep it. Employers would rather hire someone who has the basic skills to pass the GED test than someone who does not.
2. You can expect to earn more money in your lifetime with a GED. Research shows that people with a GED make an average of $385,000 more in their lifetime than people who don't have a GED or high school diploma.
3. Passing the GED test will make you more valuable to your employer because you've gained or proven basic writing, math and thinking skills. You'll probably find it's easier to get a work promotion once you have your GED.
4. The GED credential is a viable 'diploma.' It enables access to work choice, advanced workplace training, as well as access to higher educational opportunities.
5. The GED is considered -- and accepted -- as an equivalent to a high school diploma by approximately 97% of colleges and universities in the U.S., and 95% of employers.
6. You'll probably feel better about yourself with a GED because you've accomplished something that only 60% of high school graduates can do.
7. Consider the impact on your family. Your family benefits because a GED is a way to increase financial security. Research also shows that once parents get a GED, they're more likely to encourage their children to seek educational opportunities and complete educational milestones.

Need for Students to Pursue Higher Education and Parent Involvement in Children's Studies

The Amoor-e-Tulba Department of MKA, USA deems it necessary to call on all parents to be adequately involved in their children's education, not only in high school, but before, during and after their transition to college. It must be noted that the our beloved Huzoor (a.t.b.a) has made it very clear that Ahmadi Muslim students must try to attain college education after high school which ultimately gives them the opportunity to become Ahmadiyya Muslim Student Association members and take part in some Tabligh programs on campus, in addition to the economic benefits of a college degree.

Important guidelines for parents in college admission process:

It is very unfortunate to discover that many parents never takes part in their children's college admission process. They leave all decisions to their children which is not the best idea. For Ahmadi parents, this should be discouraged regardless of our reasons for doing so. The following two are suggested responsibilities for parents to follow:

Prayers:

This is the time for all Ahmadi parents to realize that attaining higher education is like a journey; it involves a lot of preparation and planning which requires prayers to Almighty Allah for guidance and help regardless of our children's choice or love for a particular college or institution.

Allah says in the Holy Qur'an Suratul Baqarah, verse 187: "And when My servants ask Me, say, I am near. I answer the prayer of the supplicant when he prays to Me. So, they should hearken to Me and believe in Me, that they may follow the right way."

This prayer means that for our children to make the right choice, we need Allah's guidelines. One of the easiest ways to do this is to request the Khalifa for prayers.

Visits to colleges:

It is very important for parents to visit colleges of interest before the final decision is made or before submitting application to such colleges. This gives you the opportunity to see the school facilities and more importantly gather needed information about school fees, financial aids and tuition.

Eleven Ways to Use LinkedIn to Find a Job

Searching for a job can be tedious if you constrain yourself to the typical tools such as online jobs boards, trade publications, Craigslist, and networking with only your close friends. In these kinds of times, you need to use all the weapons that you can, and one that many people don't—or at least don't use to the fullest extent, is LinkedIn. LinkedIn has over thirty-five million members in over 140 industries. Most of them are adults, employed, and not looking to post something on your Wall or date you. Executives from all the Fortune 500 companies are on LinkedIn. Most have disclosed what they do, where they work now, and where they've worked in the past. Talk about a target-rich environment, and the service is free.

Here are ten tips to help use LinkedIn to find a job. If you know someone who's looking for a job, show them these tips. Before trying these tips, make sure you've filled out your profile and added at least twenty connections.

- 1. Get the word out. Tell your network that you're looking for a new position because a job search these days requires the "law of big numbers." There is no stigma that you're looking right now, so the more people who know you're looking, the more likely you'll find a job. Recently, LinkedIn added "status updates" which you can use to let your network know about your newly emancipated status.
- 2. Get LinkedIn recommendations from your colleagues. A strong recommendation from your manager highlights your strengths and shows that you were a valued employee. This is especially helpful if you were recently laid off, and there is no better time to ask for this than when your manager is feeling bad because she laid you off. If you were a manager yourself, recommendations from your employees can also highlight leadership qualities.
- 3. Find out where people with your backgrounds are working. Find companies that employ people like you by doing an advanced search for people in your area who have your skills. For example, if you're a web developer in Seattle, search profiles in your zip code using keywords with your skills (for example, JavaScript, XHTML, Ruby on Rails) to see which companies employ people like you.
- 4. Find out where people at a company came from. LinkedIn "Company Profiles" show the career path of people before they began work there. This is very useful data to figure out what a company is looking for in new hires. For example, Microsoft employees worked at Hewlett-Packard and Oracle.
- 5. Find out where people from a company go next. LinkedIn's "Company Profiles" also tell you where people go after leaving the company. You can use this to track where people go after leaving your company as well as employees of other companies in your sector. (You could make the case that this feature also enables to figure out which companies to avoid.)

6. Check if a company is still hiring. Company pages on LinkedIn include a section called “New Hires” that lists people who have recently joined the company. If you have real chutzpah, you can ask these new hires how they got their new job. At the very least you can examine their backgrounds to surmise what made them attractive to the new employer.
7. Get to the hiring manager. LinkedIn’s job search engine allows you to search for any kind of job you want. However, when you view the results, pay close attention to the ones that you’re no more than two degrees away from. This means that you know someone who knows the person that posted the job—it can’t get much better than that. (Power tip: two degrees is about the limit for getting to hiring managers. I never help friends of friends of friends.) Another way to find companies that you have ties to is by looking at the “Companies in Your Network” section on LinkedIn’s Job Search page.
8. Get to the right HR person. The best case is getting to the hiring manager via someone who knows him, but if that isn’t possible you can still use LinkedIn to find someone inside the company to walk your resume to the hiring manager or HR department. When someone receives a resume from a coworker even if she doesn’t know the coworker, she almost always pays attention to it.
9. Find out the secret job requirements. Job listings rarely spell out entirely or exactly what a hiring manager is seeking. Find a connection at the company who can get the inside scoop on what really matters for the job. You can do this by searching for the company name; the results will show you who in your network connects you to the company. If you don’t have an inside connection, look at profiles of the people who work at the company to get an idea of their backgrounds and important skills.
10. Find startups to join. Maybe this recession is God telling you it’s time to try a startup. But great startups are hard to find. Play around with LinkedIn’s advanced search engine using “startup” or “stealth” in the keyword or company field. You can also narrow by industry (for example, startups in the Web 2.0, wireless, or biotech sectors). If large companies can’t offer “job security,” open up your search to include startups.
11. Build your network before you need it. As a last tip, no matter how the economy or your career is doing, having a strong network is a good form of job security. Don’t wait until times are tough to nurture your network. The key to networking (or “schmozing”), however, is filled with counter-intuitiveness. First, it’s not who you know—it’s who knows of you. Second, Great schmoozers are not thinking “What can this person do for me?” To the contrary, they are thinking, “What can I do for this person?”

LinkedIn for Khuddam

A valuable way to build your contacts

LinkedIn is powerful networking tool available online to everyone. Currently, it has over 30 million registered users and grows every day. The way it works is by connecting you with not just the people you know, but the people they know and the people they know, etc. Because of this geometric progression, it's possible to have hundreds of thousands of potential contacts in your extended network fairly quickly. Once you've established your network, it can be a great source of information regarding jobs, business opportunities, getting in touch and so on. The other powerful thing about LinkedIn is that it does not require a lot of effort to build a massive network, short few hours is all it takes to get started.

LinkedIn promotes the usage of their site for three main purposes

Why you should use LinkedIn

The service allows you to see who your contacts know - something that is virtually impossible to do sufficiently through normal social interactions. LinkedIn takes the coincidence out of networking. It enables you to passively keep up to date contact information for all of your contacts. It facilitates introductions through your broader network. It enables people to find you based upon your background and who you know. It is a professional network that excludes unnecessary personal information.
